

WAS INSTANTLY KILLED

Frank Downey's Car Crashed Into Pole—Electric Service Disrupted

Electrical service in the North Knox area and as far away as Waldoboro and Friendship was disrupted from one to three hours Saturday night as the result of a fatal accident at Barker's Garage, corner on Route 17 in Union about 7 p. m.

The car of Frank L. Downey of South Portland hurtled off the curve and struck the transformer pole carrying the power lines for the area. Downey was instantly killed, according to Medical Examiner Dr. Charles D. North who gave a verdict of death due to a fractured skull and broken neck.

The car, towed to Yattaw's Wrecking Service in Rockland, was demolished on the left side with fragments of the pole still stuck in the door handle and several spots showing where power lines arced as they fell across the car at the time of the crash.

Downey was thought to have been enroute from Augusta to Rockland when his car left the highway. The car was heading back toward Augusta when it came to rest.

He traveled for the Stanley & Cadigan Co. of Portland and had formerly been with the Southworth Machine Co. of Portland. A wife and two children, ages 4 and 7, survive.

The tragedy at Union was the second violent death in the Downey family in a month; a brother being killed at Coanasset, Mass., Oct. 30 when a parachute failed to open during an air show exhibition jump.

He was the son of Major and Mrs. Frank L. Downey of Easton, Mass., a graduate of Phillips Exeter and Harvard and former First Lieutenant of Marine Corps and part of the attack force at Tarawa.

New Business Here

Rockland Fruit & Produce Co. Opens Wholesale Establishment Today

Rockland today welcomes a new business establishment under the name of Rockland Fruit & Produce Company, located on Tillson avenue in the building formerly occupied by the C. H. Rice Company.

The owner of the new concern is Albert Scallia who is the owner and president of the Vincent Fruit Company of Lewiston. The current issue of "Food Marketing" carries a portrait of Mr. Scallia, who has been in the fruit and produce business all his life, and is thoroughly acquainted with its ins and outs.

E. Ronald Gillis of Lewiston is treasurer of the new concern, and was in the city yesterday assisting in preparations for today's opening.

Mr. Gillis graduated in 1937 from Bates College where he gained distinction as a member of the varsity football and baseball teams.

The business will be managed by Buddie J. Miller, who acquired a Rockland interest some years ago when he took as wife Anne Pellucant of Rockland. They have three children and are residing at 42 Crescent street.

Mr. Miller is a native of Stroudsburg, Penn., and for the past two years has been connected with the Home Supply Company. Prior to that he served in the U. S. Navy. By marriage he becomes the brother-in-law of Nicholas Pellucant, who was a classmate of Mr. Gillis at Bates College. He is a member of an American Legion Post in Pennsylvania.

The new concern will transact a wholesale business only.

Traffic Problems

One Of Them Has To Do With "Rush" From Tillson Avenue

The traffic problem on the "Point" has reached the stage where Chief of Police George L. Shaw is making a study of the situation with the thought in view of possible correction by Spring.

The rapid growth of activity east of Main street has caused bottlenecks which have yet to be ironed out. The congestion at the junction of Main street and Tillson avenue and at Main and Winter streets has reached the point where cars and trucks are tied up for considerable periods of time.

Quitting time and the noon hour quickly cause a jam at the head of both streets which ties the area up for several minutes each time. Between times, heavy trucks traveling to and from the waterfront have great difficulty in navigating the corners, especially when traffic is flowing against them.

The establishment of a large freight terminal on the Point, which will open shortly, adds to the possible congestion and brings the situation to the point where something has pretty much got to be done or there will be a tieup throughout the business day which will block Main street, too.

Shaw has studied the possibility of making Tillson avenue one way eastbound and Winter street one way westbound. Park street being used as the cross street between the two. With this system in use, traffic would have the full width of the street for the swings onto or from Main street and would speed the movement greatly.

Within the past few years, General Seafoods has been established in the area, Airlines the Coast

ACCIDENT WAS FATAL

Captain Francis Lipovsky Of North Haven Killed When His Car Overturned

Captain Francis M. Lipovsky, 37, former operator of the North Haven mailboat, died last night from internal injuries received in an automobile accident on the island.

Arthur Emerson, North Haven, who arrived at the scene of the accident early states that Lipovsky was driving his Chevrolet sedan toward Pulpit Harbor on the island's main highway and went off the sharp curve just beyond the junction of the Little Thoroughfare Road between 4.30 and 4.45.

The car rolled over, he said, and came to rest partly on the road and partly on the shoulder of the road and the banking. Lipovsky had been thrown out and was unconscious under the car, lying on his back, but protected from the weight of the car by a ditch in which he was lying. Whether or not the full weight of the car had been on him as it rolled over is not known.

Dr. Victor Shields examined Lipovsky and assisted in his removal to his home in the car of Frank Sampson. After arrival at the home, arrangements were made for his transfer to Knox County Hospital in Rockland and the town ambulance was summoned to take him aboard the fast bay passenger boat, J. O. Lipovsky died shortly after he was transferred to the boat and before the trip across the bay could get under way.

Lipovsky and his brother-in-law, Ira Curtis, and two passengers, miraculously escaped death in the waters of the bay on Friday, Jan. 25, 1946, when his boat, the Maid of All Work, broke up in heavy seas and forced the quartet to abandon her. Aboard a life raft, they drifted for hours and finally made shore on Leadbetter's Island from where they were rescued that night by searchers.

He was born in Barbiton, Ohio, to Leonard and Elizabeth Lipovsky. He entered the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music at the age of 13 and graduated at the age of 17; considered one of the institution's outstanding graduates with a most Guard base, the Vinalhaven and North Haven Port District docks at McLoch's Wharf, Green Island Packing Company, Snow Marine Basin and now the truck terminal, plus increased waterfront activity in general.

At one time, State and Federal engineers studied the possibility of an outlet from the dock area over Park street place to Park street at the junction of Main and a road across the Point to continue north along the waterfront to meet Main street near the Cummings Brothers Market. This plan never got beyond the wishful stage as the narrow passage between the Hotel Rockland and Nadeau's Restaurant did not meet the width specifications of Federal aid roads. The cost of building along the docks to the north was estimated to exceed the funds available for Rockland.

To Arrive By Plane

Santa Claus Will Be Met Saturday By Dignitaries, Citizens and a Band

Rockland will be treated to a sensation Saturday morning when Santa Claus, direct from the land of the Aurora Borealis will fly over the city at 10 o'clock in a plane piloted by young Bill Winchcap, son of the original Flying Santa. The plane, sent north by Jack Dodge, will be greeted with its distinguished passenger at the Ash Point airport by Osgood A. Gilbert, chairman of the City Council. A parade will be formed with decorated cars, a band, a thousand kids, gifts to them "everything, coming to this city where Santa Claus will meet all his youthful friends all day Saturday, and later at Bitler's Car & Home Supply, and will have gifts for the kids! All are warmly welcome, both at the landing festivities and at the store—adv.

The stage crew for the Rockland High School Senior Class Play, "Dear Ruth," has been announced as follows: Stage manager, Thomas Carter; assistants, Charles McLain and Fred Thompson; electricians, Frank Carter and Richard Tompkins; spotlights, Sterling Alden and George Keating; sound, Adelbert Smalley and Malcolm Hallows; stage artists, Jean Weir and Roland Ware; props, Louise Ulmer and Barbara Goldsmith; construction, Raymond St. Peter, Kermit St. Peter, Chet Emery, John Gustin, Philip Rowling, Albert Brackett, and Ronald Bickford. If the old saying that "you get out of a thing just what you put into it" is true then the stage setting for "Dear Ruth" should be a masterpiece.

FOUL PLAY NOT LIKELY

Wounds On Norman Pendleton's Head Said To Be Superficial

The cause of death of Norman Pendleton, 61, Green Island woodcutter, whose body was found Friday morning at Vinalhaven, has not yet been determined. Deputy Sheriff Ernest Gray says the coroner reported that wounds found on the back of the head did not cause death. Results of an autopsy held Friday night are expected to be released by the pathologist this week.

The body was found off Wall's wharf at Old Harbor about 7.30 a. m. Friday by Samuel White who reported to officials that it was floating almost erect in the water with only the head above the surface. He, and others, brought the body inshore and secured it to one side of the wharf.

Chief of Police Raymond Tibbets, after investigation informed Medical Examiner Freeman F. Brown Jr., of Rockland, Deputy Sheriff Ernest Gray and County Attorney Frank F. Harding.

Dr. Brown flew to the island and examined the body during the morning and ordered it removed to Russell Funeral Home in Rockland in charge of Joseph F. Headley, Vinalhaven undertaker.

An investigation was made at the scene of the death during the afternoon by Deputy Gray and County Attorney Harding who went to the island aboard the Coast Guard cutter, CGC 83487.

Taxi driver Malcolm Whittington stated that he saw Pendleton about 12.45 a. m. Friday as he walked along the highway near Patterson's corner, headed, apparently for Old Harbor. He saw him 10 minutes later still further on his way and as far as is known was the last person to see him that night.

Pendleton, according to persons familiar with his habits, made it a practice to come ashore at Old Harbor from Green's Island where he worked as a woodsman for the St. Regis Paper Co., tie up his skiff and walk to town. Upon landing, he had been in the habit of leaving his rubber boots on the dock after changing to shoes for the walk to town. The boots were found on the dock by Tibbets, just above where the boat was moored.

A tan wool-visored cap, which was identified as Pendleton's was found by Clyde Ames on the ledge at the opposite end of the dock from where the body was found.

Pendleton was seen at the Lions Club dance in town Thursday night by several persons, some of whom recalled seeing him shortly before the taxi driver remembers noticing him at Patterson's Corner.

He was born in Islesboro, son of Isaac and Antoinette (Yeaton) Pendleton. Surviving are two brothers, William of Lincolnville and Samuel of Portsmouth, N. H.; three sisters, Mrs. Ethel Hooper living in Connecticut; Mrs. Gertrude Lane of Belfast and Mrs. Edith Kelley of Dorchester, Mass.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from Russell Funeral home with burial in Maplewood Cemetery, Islesboro. Rev. John A. Barker of the Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church officiated.

BONUSES FROM "GEN. SEAFOODS"

Employees Will Be Paid Three Percent Of Their Total Wages

General Seafoods has posted notices in the shipyard and fish plant divisions to the effect that employees will be paid a Christmas bonus amounting to 3 percent of their total wages for the year.

The first such bonus was paid last year just before Christmas and amounted to $18,000 distributed to employees of both divisions.

The Shipyard Division is headed by Carl Jensen with a large number of men employed in general ship repair work and several other fields which the company is working to increase the total output of the yard.

The Fisheries Division is under the direction of Frank Perry and has been enlarged within the past year to pack as high as 30,000,000 pounds of fish annually. A total of 23 fishing boats now dock at the plant to sell their catches.

GRANGE CORNER

News items from all of the Patrons of Husbandry are welcomed here.

Officers of Limerock Valley Pomona will meet Thursday night with Penobscot View Grange, Glen Cove. Guest officers' night will also be observed. Pomona members are welcome. Lunch will be served at 6. Those not solicited will take sweets.

North Haven Grange will hold election of officers Saturday night. A clam stew supper will be served. All members are urged to attend. Those not solicited will take dessert.

Knox Pomona Grange will meet Saturday with White Oak Grange, North Warren. The program will be based on Christmas, the address by Rev. Lee Perry, pastor of the Baptist Church, Warren. Welcome will be extended by Mrs. Luella Crockett of Warren, with the response by Allen Young of East Union.

Officers-elect of Warren Grange will be installed tonight by Charles Stimpson, Jr., and staff. Refreshments will be served.

Officers will be elected Friday at White Oak Grange, North Warren. There will be no degree work.

Cal Smith, former member of the St. George baseball team, was a visitor in the city Saturday, smiling happily over his re-enlistment in the U. S. Army, this time for a three year stretch in the Infantry division, stationed at Fort Dix, N. J. He has already devoted eight years to Army service, and, as one might expect, has rather begun to like it. Gathering years have not prevented "Cal" from playing baseball, and he is still doing a pretty good job at it, taking time out to read with pride the record which his two going hopefuls are establishing.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Searching the attic the other day, Mrs. Ida Stahl of Stahl's Tavern, Waldoboro, came across a curiosity in the form of "The Musical Album," published by H. Hume, a Brooklyn furniture concern ever so many years ago. How many years may be judged from the fact that Hume advertised that "nine lines of horse cars the door of our furniture warehouse." Some of the selections in "The Musical Album" were "The Turkish Revue," "Don't Make a Noise, You'll Wake the Baby," "Sally in Our Alley," and "The Merry Maiden and the Tar."

When I was a youngster there was a current saying: "You'll get what Paddy gave the drum—a devil of a beating." Long since gone into the discard.

Also when I was a youngster we always looked forward to ice skating on Thanksgiving Day, and many were the games of ice polo we had after overloading our stomachs with Thanksgiving turkey. Yet they would undertake to tell you that the seasons do not change.

I listened with keen interest to Alton Blackington's "Yankee Yarn" on the loss of the steamship Portland 50 years ago. The experience of Frank P. Sibley in getting the names of the passengers was very faithfully told, because Col. Sibley told me the story some years ago while we were discussing one of Ida Stahl's nice dinners at Stahl's Tavern in Waldoboro.

Walter Aho and Ruel Eugley of Waldoboro were cutting Christmas trees in Warren when they were encircled by a nest of yellow-jackets hornets from an old tree stump. Could anyone tell these boys if this is a sign of a mild winter? They have been cutting trees for 20 years and haven't seen anything like it before but they sit down hard, as Walt can testify.

Here's the best paper putty story yet. A young lady who resides at the South End offered her dog a tempting piece of chicken and was astonished that the pup made no attempt to eat it, not even opening his jaws. Sensing that there was something amiss with the canine, she took him to a veterinarian, who found a strange case of "lock jaw" on his hands. When the jaws were finally pried open, and foreign matter was removed from the dog's mouth, it was learned that he had eaten paper putty.

The Film Council will meet Thursday night at 7.30 with Mrs. Harold Gerrish, 27 James street, Mrs. Gerrish is secretary of the Council. Anyone interested in the work or in helping with the program of audio-visual aids in Rockland, in addition to those already members or representing member organizations are invited. Please call Mrs. Gerrish, 1192-M, if you can attend.

Miss Georgia Stevens is vice president of the Council and will preside Thursday night when a number of items will be discussed, including equipment. It is expected that Mrs. Ruth Whitin will be present and share in planning how the Council can more effectively serve Rockland.

"The Rockland Film Council: What, Why, How?" will be the theme of Rev. Charles R. McPeth, president of the Rockland Film Council, when he addresses the Teachers Council Thursday night.

Word has been received from the National Consumer-Retailer Council, headquarters in New York City, that filmstrips are in preparation, (some already available), for use by Senior and Junior High Schools and Educational Groups. "According to surveys, filmstrips are the choice of teachers themselves." These will be made available through local retailers, and when Rockland retailers receive their prints, the Rockland Film Council will assist in introducing these filmstrips to the clubs by arranging previews.

"Putting Films to work in the Community," a release of the Film Council of America, has just been received. The Rockland Film Council is listed as one of the first hundred councils to be formed. Thirty-four States, Canada and Hawaii are included in the first hundred.

[EDITORIAL]

A SHABBY BRIDGE

Having crossed the Wiscasset bridge several times in recent weeks we feel qualified to endorse the Lincoln County News' protest over its disreputable condition. Editorially the alert Lincoln County newspaper says:

"The condition of the Wiscasset-Edgcomb bridge, vital link in Route 1 is a disgrace. It is small wonder that our highway funds don't produce more. Wednesday morning three men and a truck were busily engaged placing a few small pieces of plank in the holes in the part of the bridge which has not been resurfaced. Traffic was held up a few minutes to allow this major operation. A small truck skidded on the wet planks which are dangerous in wet weather. At the Edgcomb end of the bridge a good sized hole exists in part of the first section of cement laid some time ago. On the new cemented section rain water stands in small pools, testifying to the unevenness of that section which will shortly give way to holes and more holes. The patching job has gone on for years and still this vital link is a disgrace. How about less money for the maintenance and a real constructive project for rebuilding?"

STATE POLICE ON THE JOB

Members of the Maine State Police are right on the job, and evil-doers who have any doubts on the subject will do well to watch their step. This comment is evoked by results at Brunswick Sunday when nine persons were subjected to fines for illegal transportation of deer and carrying loaded rifles in their automobiles. The majority of the offenders belonged out of the State.

TREATED AS INFANTS

Gang rule in a Boston subway, following a Thanksgiving Day football game brought an unique sequel in that city's Juvenile Court, when Judge Connelly told how his court had resorted to old-fashioned treatment to nip rowdiness and vandalism. He told how his court had treated four offending boys literally as "babies" for 24 hours. Those boys were dressed as infants. They were fed only by nursing bottles and nipples and spooned baby food. They were rubbed with olive oil and doused with talcum powder. If they wanted to go out, they had to play in a baby-pen.

SOLVING A CHRISTMAS PROBLEM

Rockland's well stocked stores should leave nobody in doubt as to what they should purchase for Christmas gifts, yet most of us are sometimes stumped. Renewing the suggestion we have made successfully for a number of years—why not send your friend a year's subscription to The Courier-Gazette. Reasonable as to price and no cost or bother about mailing if the paper is to be sent out of town. The recipient will remember you, very gratefully, 104 times a year. And just for good measure this year there will be 105 copies. Does this help solve your problem?

THE BACKBONE OF DEMOCRACY

Fundamental service to democracy is being given by the American Bible Society through its broad endeavor to encourage the reading of the Bible. Freedom has developed primarily from faith in God. Without God, society reverts as communism and Nazism evidence, to the jungle and the domination of brute force. But even in the democracies there has been in recent years a drift away from the Bible. Now the Bible Society seeks to restore an essential of liberty. This is vital to America, for no nation is stronger than a Bible-reading people.

Selections from the Bible for daily reading have been made by the society, starting with Thanksgiving Day and running through Christmas. It is printing 15,000,000 copies of these lists this year, a million more than last. Many newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals reprint the list, better than doubling its circulation. Distribution of the selections is furnished by churches and numerous other channels. The Board of Education in Cincinnati, for instance, authorized last year the giving out of 40,000 reading lists in the grade schools of the city.

Many people otherwise not reached by the Scriptures thus become acquainted with the Bible. They come into some recognition of that eternal Love which is so enormously needed in world affairs. The Bible opens the way for both individual and world salvation. Thanks to the daily reading lists broadcast by the American Bible Society, that way is due to become clearer to a multitude.—Christian Science Monitor.

Cinema Highlights

(By Bill Coffield)

Studio Round-up: The production situation looks very good in Hollywood with forty films in the making this week. Several studios seem to be getting out of the doldrums. Among the leaders is MGM starting "Neptune's Daughter" in Technicolor, featuring Keenan Wynn in a comedy role as a bathing suit manufacturer who is supposed to be in love with Esther Williams. Baseball personalities are in the limelight with Jimmy Dykes, ex-manager of the Chicago White Sox and Bill Dickey, famed Yankees slugger, both portraying themselves in the "Stratton Story." Goodwill Ambassador Danny Kaye, who stormed London earlier this year during his stand at the Palladium, repeated his smash before royalty at the Command Performance last week. The U. S. comic held the stage for 30 minutes, twice as long as the time allotted other acts on the show. He even had the Royal Family joining in on a chorus of "Minnie The Moother." Kaye's next visit to Rockland via the celluloid will be in "Song Is Born," which is slated for a special midnight showing Thanksgiving Eve at the Strand. Comedy lovers both young and old are very much saddened this week at the death of "Slow Burn" Kennedy, the slapstick comic who had just completed his 106th birthday. Kennedy, a veteran of show business since 1911, is known as one of the original Keystone Kops and appeared in over 500 films during his career. This great showman will long be remembered by the many week-end patrons of the Park Theatre where he was a constant standby for laughs.

Did you know that James Craig gave up the study of medicine to become an actor and that he was All-Southern end at Rice Institute? Or that Edward Arnold is known as one of Hollywood's most civic minded actors, and at one time was on the board of directors of 18 charitable and civic organizations. He is also one of the largest orange ranchers in Southern California. Or that Bart Lancaster was once a circus stunt man. Putting his foot into it: Farley Granger wore an 18 pound boot to affect a foot injury for early scenes in R.K.O.'s "They Live By Night." Then, he actually fractured the same foot in a leap, making future use of the boot unnecessary. Photography enthusiasts will be

KNOX BUSINESS COLLEGE

Lewis Levitt, instructor in the evening school accounting, spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Bangor.

Word was received from Herbert Hillgrove who is in the hospital at Togus that he underwent the third serious operation the day before Thanksgiving but expects to be able to re-enter school within a short time.

A new blackboard was placed in the accounting room, courtesy of Paul Halligan.

A social was held Friday afternoon assembly. Music on accordion furnished by Arthur Crockett of Camden; group singing, June York, Shirley Dwyer, Paul Halligan, Lorraine Perry, Francis Hedrick, Louis Leach, Milton Gamage, Marjorie Robinson, Ruth Salo and Regina Hall.

Special reports on Economics covering, New Orleans Cotton Exchange, Medieval Fairs, Economy in Marketing were assigned this week.

Miss Marjorie Robinson entered the Day School last week.

New Evening school entries recently were Greta Nelson, Anna Bullard, Arnold Snowdeal, June Stiles.

School closed Wednesday for the holidays. Opened again today.

interested to learn that "16 Pathom Deep" to be shown soon at Park Theatre is the first use of the new Ansco color film process. The reason for the use of this new process is to facilitate the necessary underwater photography in the picture.

Box office barometer of film favorites around the country this week shows "Song Is Born" leading the field, closely followed by "Red River." Third place winner, "Johnny Belinda" was a Rockland favorite. Incidentally, lovely Jane Wyman is already being whispered as this year's "Oscar" winner for her superb performance in "Belinda." Other films rounding out the parade are "Road House," "Julia Misbehaves" and "Sealed Verdict."

Police will soon erect stop signs at the junction of Lincoln and Summer streets close to the McLean School. The signs will be placed on Summer street, requiring a full stop before proceeding across Lincoln street. Chief George Shaw states that this is a danger point due to the closeness of two schools to the busy intersection. City Manager Farnsworth obtained a ruling from the State Highway Commission on the erection of the signs which permits their being placed at once.

Two accidents over the week-end in the city resulted in damage to the car of Alton C. Cromwell of Clark's Island to the extent of $250 and that of Harold P. Studley of Rockland to total $50. The Cromwell car was involved in an accident with a car operated by Joseph LeBlanc, Rockland, on South Main street, Friday. The Studley car was struck by a car operated by Warren A. Treat, 3d, of Thomaston, who is reported by police to have pulled out of a filling station in the other's path. No police action was taken in either case, other than to investigate.

"J. C." Held Dance

Howard Crockett Was Chairman Of Chamber's Successful Affair

The Jaycees and their ladies enjoyed an evening of dancing Monday night at Masonic Hall. Music was provided by Woodcock's Orchestra with both new and old dances featured. Refreshments were served during intermission. The very successful affair was under the direction of Howard Crockett and Arnold Bryant and their efficient committee. It is hoped that this dance will be the forerunner of many more of the same type.

Small-Gordon

Engagement Of Jeannette Gordon and Abraham Small Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Gordon announce the engagement of their daughter Jeannette Helena to Abraham Small, son of Mrs. William Small and the late Mr. Small.

Miss Gordon graduated from the Lesley School for Girls in Cambridge, Mass., and from Boston University School of Education where she received her B.S. in Education.

Mr. Small is an alumnus of New York University where he obtained his A.B. degree. During the war he served four and one-half years in the Army Air Forces and was discharged as a captain.

SALO-FULLER

Miss Frances Irene Fuller of Ash Point and Solo E. Salo of Rockland were married Friday night by E. R. Keene, J. P. at his home on North Main street. Miss Fuller wore an aqua crepe street-length dress with gray coat and hat and a corsage of sweetheart roses. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Roberts of Ash Point. Mrs. Salo is the daughter of Mrs. Willard Roberts and the late Arthur B. Fuller of Ash Point. The couple left Sunday by motor with Carl Leadbetter of Lewiston for Burlington, Wis., where Mr. Salo will be employed as an electrical engineer.

Rockland firemen were called to the Ballyhack section of Owl's Head last night on what was reported to be a woods fire but which was out on arrival of the Dodge tank truck and crew.

The committee on the American Legion turkey shoot which was rained out of business on Thanksgiving Day completed the shooting off of the turkeys and ducks at the S. H. Doe gravel pit Sunday. Funds raised from the affair will be contributed to the general furnishings fund for the new Legion home at the Country Club.

Up to press time today, not a single person had appeared before the Board of Registration of Voters to register for the municipal election scheduled for next Monday. The board closes its sessions tonight. The nearness to the national election, when the registrations were heavy, is given as the reason for the absence of those persons seeking to qualify as voters.

Crews of electricians under the direction of A. T. Thurston started at 11 p. m. Sunday to string the Christmas lights on Main and Limerock streets. They expect to complete the task by Wednesday, having placed the supporting cables last week.

Knox Lodge 100F, No. 29 will hold a drill meeting on the initiation degree next Monday night.

THE STUDENTS DID IT

Ripped Up Community Building Floor Preparatory To Repairs

The old floor in the Community Building gym came up in jig time last week with more than 30 volunteers from the High School group doing the work. The huge area was denuded of the floor swept and waterproofed in 48 hours, ready for the carpenters who began Monday morning to lay springs and replace the floor.

The work has progressed so rapidly with the help of the youngsters that the floor is expected to be ready for use by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

Left sees Buddy Mosher and Billy Ulmer passing flooring up to Tony Gustin who stowed it temporarily on the balcony seats. Ripping up the flooring is Joan Prock and Bucky Murgita with Mike DiRenzo watching the proceedings, behind him, passing flooring, is Joan Champlin.

The boards were carefully taken up and stored in the balcony and on the stage for the carpenters to use in relaying the floor. The work done by the students saved the city and building several hundred dollars in labor bills.

Colby Glee Club

Famous Group Will Sing Handel's Messiah In Rockland December 15

For the first time in many years the famous Colby Glee Club will appear in Rockland, the place being the Universalist Church and the date Dec. 15. The club has won a remarkable reputation thus early in the season and will be one of the outstanding clubs in the college history.

Handel's "Messiah" will be sung by 70 young, beautifully trained voices under direction of the veteran composer-director John White Thomas. Representative choruses and solos will be sung from each of the three parts of the work, not limited to Christmas music with 29 men and 41 young women in the great chorus.

Three other concerts of the "Messiah" will be sung this year: Brunswick, Portland and Waterville. The soloists will be soprano, Sarah Hollister; mezzo, Martha Jackson; contralto, Janet Perrigo; tenor, Philip Lawrence and bass, Conrad White. Mr. White comes from this city as does Jane Perry, who is in the chorus.

The concert will be under the auspices of the Universalist Repair Committee with the Knox County Colby Club interested supporters. A lobster stew dinner will be held prior to the concert in the Universalist vestry and it is hoped all Colby graduates and former students will be on hand to break bread with the young singers and give a good Colby spirit to the affair.

Tailored, lace-trimmed Slips, in tea rose, blue and white, $5.95. Sarah Linnell, Copper Kettle. 96-99

Supplement To Water Supply
Work on a dug well is in process at the Water Works to supplement the amount supplied by two artesian wells.
Excavated by a "drag line," bucket the new well is 20 feet in diameter, and 18 feet deep. Sides of the well are being rockered up, and a pump was installed Friday which will deliver water to a pump house, where a pump will, in turn put the water into the reservoir. The job is about half done, it is estimated by Howard Norwood, who is in charge of the project, working with his brother, Leroy Norwood. Capacity of the newly-installed pump in 25 gallons a minute. All the work will be completed in a week or ten days, it is expected, and the well will be roofed over during the Fall or next Spring.
The project has the approval of the Public Utilities Commission, and the State Department of Health, and a sample of the water taken from a test well, dug before the large excavation was made, passed the tests as good pure water. However, this water will not be in use for several months, because it will take some time for it to clear. The vein of water comes from a blown ledge, into the well.
The new well is located approximately 350 from the reservoir, and 125 from the pump house, the pump of which will relay the water to the reservoir from the pump located by the newly-constructed well.
Nine men including Howard and Leroy Norwood, are employed on the job—Arthur Bucklin of Thomaston, Elmer Polky and Leonard Polky of South Waldo, Albert H. Jones of Union, Robert Anderson, Kenneth Cousins, and Stanley Pogg of this town.
Due to drought conditions of last Summer, and Fall, the Water Company, as a precaution against fire emergency within reach of the reservoir, the water chlorinated before it entered the hose which carried it to a hydrant.

At an adjourned session of the August Term, A. D. 1948, held at Rockland on the twenty-ninth day of November.
On the foregoing petition Ordered: That notice be given as provided in Chapter 84, Section 1263, of the Revised Statutes, that the County Commissioners will meet at the Selections Office, Warren, on Wednesday, December 8, A. D. 1948, at 2 P. M. and will hold a public hearing to hear the parties and witnesses and receive whatever evidence may be offered as to the necessity of closing such roads to travel or directing that such roads be not broken out during the months of December, January, February, March and April, or any part of such months, by causing notices to be posted in public places in Warren in said County and publishing the petition and this order thereon in The Courier-Gazette, a newspaper published in Rockland in said County at least seven days before December 8, 1948, that all persons interested may then and there appear and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioners should not be granted.
MILTON M. GRIFFIN, Clerk. 96-11

Uncle Sam Says

Your Uncle Sam wants to tell you about a Christmas gift you should have without. That's the gift of security, of confidence in your financial future, of that peace of mind that only comes when money's not a problem, but a blessing. You can have that gift because your Government is offering the finest savings plan that ever came within your reach. If you are on a payroll, join the Payroll Savings Plan that puts in your hand a U. S. Savings Bond at regular intervals. If not on a payroll, you can get a savings bond each month through the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. When making up presents for the family, give a thought to their futures!

PIN-WORM MYSTERY ENDED
Pin-Worms have been causing trouble for centuries, and millions of victims have been suffering from this pest. It is now known that Pin-Worm infection spreads rapidly and can cause real distress if neglected. So beware of that aggravating rectal itch, and act fast. Ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W. It is the first sign of Pin-Worms. P-W is a powerful sound treatment based on an officially approved drug principle. The easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms easily and safely. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

STATE OF MAINE
The undersigned, Selectmen of the Town of Warren in said County, and the municipal officers thereof, respectfully represent that the so-called Mountain Road from Great Eastern to the Union town line at Arthur Clark's residence, a distance of 1.83 miles and the so-called Sandy Shore road from Albert Hanson's to Nigger Town road, a distance of 1.94 miles and the so-called Pleasant Hill road from the residence to the foot of Mud Turtle Hill at old Augusta stage road, a distance of 4.5 miles, are so located with reference to population, use and travel during the months of December, January, February, March and April, or any part of such months, that it is unnecessary to keep said roads broken out and open for travel during the months of December, January, February, March and April, or any part of such months.
Given under our hands at Warren, Maine, this twenty-seventh day of November, A. D. 1948.

Congregational Notes

The trustees of the Congregational Church met Friday night at the Congregational Church and are meeting again Monday night at the home of one of the co-chairmen, Maurice P. Lovejoy, to complete plans for the 1949 Every Member Canvass. Canvassers will meet with the trustees Thursday night at the church at 7.30 and will be briefed for the canvass which will be conducted next Sunday between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Boy Scout Troop 206 sponsored the calendar's last Sunday at the Congregational Church in loving memory of Frederick Merritt, gold star member, a former member of that troop.

Class 6, composed of third and fourth graders, with Ruth Emery teacher, had the largest attendance of any class in the church school last Sunday. Class 10, Laura Pomeroy teacher, continues to maintain their perfect attendance record. Next Sunday perfect attendance for November will be announced. Ruth Bowley, now in training at the Maine General Hospital, and a former teacher, was present and assisted in the Pr-turning there Monday after a recess spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Johnson at Down Easter Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Sprowl and son, Dennis and Jack who were holiday guests of Mrs. Sprowl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Osgood, returned Friday to Thomaston.

The Women's Association meets for its regular monthly session on Wednesday, but at a different hour. The Association will meet at 10 o'clock for a luncheon in the parlors, following which Mrs. Charles Haynes, Ellsworth, will speak. Mrs. Haynes is State President of the Women's Fellowship of Maine. Following her speech, Mrs. Harriet Frost will preside at the monthly meeting, which is also the annual meeting of the group.

The Missionary Study Group of the Women's Association will meet on Friday afternoon at 3 with Mrs. Robert Lindquist, 12 Lincoln street.

Kupples Klub meets for its December session at the Congregational Church at 7 o'clock, with a Christmas party for the program.

Loyalty Day will be observed next Sunday, Dec. 5, at the Congregational Church, with the annual financial canvass being conducted between 2 and 5 o'clock that afternoon. The Pastor will preach the second of his series of sermons for the Advent season "Personae of the First Christmas—The Wise Men."

Comrades of the Way will omit their meeting next Sunday because the Canvassers will be meeting at the church, but will journey to Belfast on Saturday night when the Belfast Congregational Youth Group present them with a party. A few weeks ago the Belfast and mary Department, while Beverly Manning was the assistant on duty in Class 8, while the teacher, Betty Crozier, was at Waterville attending a "Manitou" reunion. Ruth Bowley and Stephany Lindquist were at the reunion Saturday afternoon and evening.

Comrades of the Way set a record of having as many boys present as girls when 14 assembled Sunday night to listen to Chief of Police George I. Shaw. Chief Shaw prefaced his remarks with humorous incidents of his experience, and then went on to discuss some of Rockland's traffic problems. He dwelt at some length on the problem which is causing him considerable concern, students crossing the streets as sidewalks, and asked the group for help and suggestions. During the discussion period it was pointed out that no one had ever presented the problem to them before and it was felt that if the story was told to all the school attendants, primary and High School, it would be largely eliminated. Other topics discussed during the talk and question period were: Tillson avenue congestion; Halloween pranks, amusing and destructive, both topics being discussed, with the emphasis on an increase this year on the latter type; parking meter collections; police protection, with the Chief pointing out that the nine men on the force regularly serving 48 hours per week, unless called out for overtime on occasions such as Halloween, New Years eve and July 3. The young people were very pleased with Chief Shaw's message and hoped he will come back again. Betty Crozier, president, presided over the business meeting, and led the short devotional service.

The Deacons of the Congregational Church met at the parsonage on Monday night for a monthly session.

Mrs. Alice Gregory, Mrs. Monira Blodgett and Maurice Gregory were called here by the recent death of Mrs. Gregory's brother, Samuel Tarr of Warren. They were guests of Fred Gregory.

TENANT'S HARBOR

Ralph J. Smalley

Word has been received here of the death Nov. 26 of Ralph J. Smalley at his home in Springfield, Mass., after a lingering illness, and much suffering. He was 63 years of age and a native of this town, son of the late John S. Smalley and Emma (McNeil).

Survivors are his wife, Susan Elizabeth (Davidson); a daughter, Mrs. Eva Fry, also of Springfield; mother, Mrs. Emma M. Torrey of this place; and four sisters, Mrs. Alice Comstock of Rockland, Mrs. Harriet Wheeler of Tenant's Harbor, Mrs. Leah Smith of West Somerville, Mass., and Mrs. Sophia Wood of Rockland.

Funeral and interment were in Springfield.

Soil Conservation

By Roy Gross, Soil Conservation Service, Waldoboro.

During the past month, the farm of Albert Orff of Cushing, was surveyed by the Soil Conservation Service, according to its soil type, degree of slope and percent of erosion. The farm is located in the typically rugged country found along the Maine coast. Parts of Mr. Orff's farm have ledge outcrops at frequent intervals, and between the outcrops are lower, wet areas. Wet areas in these positions are difficult to drain because the natural drainage way is usually blocked by the surrounding ledge.

Mr. Orff has one such area in which he hopes to construct a farmpond. Other parts of the farm have clay soils, which are ideal grassland soils, as well as areas of sandy loam and gravelly loam soils. Some of the lowland is a pure muck soil, but it is not a large enough area nor in a drainable position to be used as anything but hayland. Mr. Orff has some steep slopes, which are being held in grassland as protection against erosion.

The soil Conservation survey map breaks down the different types of soil on a farm into the groups that can be put to the same use. In this way, each field, or section of a field, is known as to its characteristics and thus what crop would be best suited to it. Often times the limiting factor of a soil can be altered by the farmer to get improved yields from the same area. This is most easily illustrated by placing a drainage ditch in wet land, the yield in the surrounding area will increase, and the desirable plants will thrive where they died out before drainage was used.

If the farmers dig a hole in almost any soil, or observe highway or railroad cuts, they will observe a series of horizontal layers of varying thicknesses. Several layers, also called horizons, differ from one another more or less sharply, in such properties as color, texture, structure and other physical and chemical characteristics. A soil profile is usually divided into three major layers which are designated as A, B, C horizons. The A horizons include the upper part of the profile in which life is most active. This layer, due to its normally higher organic content and crumbly condition, is the most productive. Commonly the plowed layer lies within the A horizon. The B horizon is generally called the sub soil. The C horizon is the unweathered parent material.

Before our land was put to plow, the average depth of topsoil was about nine inches. Now it averages only about five inches—or nearly half of the land in the United States is nearly half gone because of improper land management. Nature protects the land by covering it with vegetation such as grasses and trees, so that when rain falls it is held back and soaks into the soil. Vegetation also cushions and breaks the impact of rain drops.

Man has destroyed nature's protective covering by cutting down forests and plowing up the land, exposing it to the full forces of water and wind. After every rain, the water rushes off the sloping land, carrying with it precious topsoil and plant food. The longer this continues, the worse it becomes and often serious gullying develops.

Sheet erosion is the more or less even removal of soil in thin layers over an entire area of land. It is the least conspicuous form of erosion and most likely to occur without being detected. Even today, many Knox-Lincoln County farmers insist that they have no erosion on their farms. However, comparative measurements of the depth of topsoil in cropland fields and adjacent undisturbed fields show that several inches of good topsoil have been lost.

According to the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, erosion losses in the United States are classified as follows: Severely eroded, 282,218,263 acres; moderately eroded, 775,678,031 acres; and slightly eroded, 700,512,011 acres.

Feeling Mighty Low

Gasping Ganders Get Gloomier, While Skippers Get Skipper

The Skippers won their fourth straight victory from the Gasping Ganders last Monday night and black despair walks the streets of Vinalhaven, especially in the vicinity of the Grimes fish plant.

While the Skippers merrily boost their score up, the Ganders slowly slip into the cellar. And as one who has helped his team down stairs, Captain Grimes is feeling mighty low and saying very little. Der Cap bowed three tremendous strings in the 60's last Monday night and it will go down in bowling history as Bowlers' Blue Monday. With a three string total of 198, the Captain feels like a mark down from $2.

But the doughty little manager shook off the ill effects of the dose of harsh medicine administered to him and will be on hand again and smiling, to see what happens at the next engagement. A study of the score reveals that it would have taken a better man than the Captain to have pulled the Ganders in as winners, for the 89 pin defeat would have been quite a dead loss for any one man to work up.

One big surprise of the evening came about when the score was totted and it was found that Peterson had been eliminated, for Peterson has been going great guns for the Skippers and nobody thought the elimination but would get him. He and Hen Anderson will rest for a week while Ted MacDonald and Der Cap are getting their strength and courage back for the Ganders. Shields seems to be setting back into form and from now on will hold his own with the best of them. Pressure is being put on Manager Grimes to try some of the suggestions recently advanced in the strength of his team by some of the "Pep" foods, and rumor has it that Der Cap recently interviewed a reliable veterinary on the subject, but financial difficulties are being given as the reason that there has been "nothing done" on the matter. Cbituary follows: Gander fans will read it and weep.

Ambitious Plans

Are Made By A. & P. For Observing Its 89th
Anniversary

Plans to expand its store, modernization program and further its efforts to reduce the costs of food distribution were made by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company today as the food chain observed the 89th anniversary of its founding. In honoring George Huntington Hartford who, in 1859, opened the first A & P store in New York, the company declared that savings brought about by efficient methods of food distribution will be passed along to customers.

Lawrence M. Cazayoux, president of the A & P's New England Division, in recognition of the event, has outlined a program for extensive modernization of store facilities, expansion of specialized personnel training and a furtherance of freshness-control procedure as a means of eliminating costly waste.

"The company will do its utmost to bring about further reduction in the handling and distribution of foods for the benefit of our consumers," said Mr. Cazayoux. More than 100,000 A & P employees are joining in the observance of the company's anniversary.

For the past several years A & P has concentrated on the development of modern supermarkets to replace the old-fashioned grocery stores. The modern, streamlined stores with their self-service features are the most efficient food outlets in history.

"The plan for modernizing our retail store facilities," said Mr. Cazayoux, "is another step in our constant efforts to bring food to the consumer in better condition and at a decrease in cost. This is made possible through modern handling methods which eliminate waste through spoilage and improper handling."

Also included in our plans, he said, is a program for increased use of modern refrigerating units in our store and warehouse operations. Our experiments in various sections of New England indicate the proper cooling of fresh fruits and vegetables as they move from farm to store will reduce further spoilage.

The A & P also will continue its agricultural program, said Mr. Cazayoux. He explained that A & P's 140 field buying offices administer the program by providing farmers and buyers with a valuable interchange of production and marketing ideas. In late years, this procedure has resulted in many improvements in the grading, packing and distribution of fruits and vegetables.

During the past year, John A. Hartford, son of the A & P founder, and president of the entire food chain, announced installation of a retirement plan for the benefit of all regular employees. The entire costs are carried by the company.

A & P also was the first major retail food distributor to adopt a five-day, 45-hour week. In addition, all company employees are granted insurance benefits, vacation with pay, and sick leave.

been postponed until Dec. 9 when it will be held at the home of Mrs. Bernice Leach, Masonic street. It will be a Christmas party with exchange of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Gay have returned to Wakefield, Mass., after being holiday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gay, Talbot avenue.

There will be a Girl Scout Leaders Association meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Community Building. All committee members connected with the supper to be served by the Girl Scouts on Saturday, Dec. 18, in the Odd Fellows Hall, should be present.

Be sure to cook dried fruit in the water in which it was soaked so as to utilize valuable nutrients.

WALTER E. WEEKS

After a long period of ill health, attended by much suffering, Walter E. Weeks died Saturday night at his home, 140 Main street. Services will be held at the Russell Funeral Home at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., officiating. Interment will be in Sea View cemetery.

The deceased was born July 9, 1873, son of William and Lucretia (Spear) Weeks. He was at one time in the hotel business at Ellsworth, but during his residence in Rockland was principally in the employ of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc.

During the Spanish-American War he served at Chickamauga as a sergeant in Co. H, First Maine Regiment. He was one of the most devoted members of Ralph Ulmer Camp, Spanish War Veterans.

His career in Rockland High School was marked by special prominence in athletics. As first baseman of the varsity baseball team, and as a member of the varsity football team, he was an outstanding member.

As a member of that well-known local organization the Bean Barrel Club, he was a regular attendant at its informal sessions, enjoying to the utmost the good natured arguments to which they gave rise. His unflinching good nature and his loyalty as a friend made him especially popular.

Deer hunting was one of his favorite diversions and every fall for many years he fared forth into the big woods with other local hunters.

Mr. Weeks is survived by his wife, the former Mary Byr; and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Wall.

MRS. FANNIE E. HARPER

A long, gentle life came to its end Thanksgiving morning with the death of Mrs. Fannie Evelyn Harper, Cedar street. Funeral services were held Saturday at the Burpee Funeral Home. Rev. J. Charles MacDonald of the First Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in her native Tremont, beside her late husband, Capt. Edward C. Harper.

Fannie Billings Harper was born in Tremont, Aug. 22, 1862, daughter of Stephen and Hannah (Dow) Billings, and was early married to Captain Harper in a union marked by enduring happiness and contentment. His death in 1934 was a great blow to her but did not disturb the gentle tenor of her life. A woman of unusual understanding and compassion, deceased was so loved in Tremont, that "Aunt Fannie" was universal, and during the 37 years she had resided in Rockland, the same affectionate regard and name was hers.

Four sons were born to the union, Clifford E., Oscar R., both deceased, Austin S. and Frank R. Six grandchildren survive: Mrs. Ruth Harper Dresser, Eleanor Harper Ames, Clifford E. Harper, Richard O. Harper, Keith L. Harper, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Harper and Raymond O., son of the late Oscar Harper, who made his home with grandmother through his childhood and adolescent years. Between them existed a deep bond of affection. Seven great grandchildren and two nieces also survive.

Australia exported 942,000 gallons of wine, largely to the United Kingdom, during the first six months of 1947.

Methenesec Club

Lists To An Afternoon Program Well Worth Remembering

Mrs. Mary Garrett, Miss Dorothy Lawry, Mrs. Natalie Snow, Miss Arlene Miller, guests and Mrs. Madeline Jackson and Mrs. Litsa Vardavoulis, members, gave Methenesec Club a pleasant afternoon, Nov. 26. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Vardavoulis who as music chairman was in charge of the afternoon's program and presented six numbers. The first number caught and held the attention of the group and they were with the artists for the entire program.

Miss Dorothy Lawry and Mrs. Vardavoulis played "Barcarole" by Ethelbert Nevin for the opening number.

Mrs. Mary Garrett sang two Irving Berlin songs: "The Girl I Married" and "All By Myself." She was accompanied by Mrs. Natalie Snow. Any audience would be happy to have more Berlin songs.

Miss Arlene Miller, young daughter of Mrs. Marion Miller, charmed everyone with her reading: "Angel in Disguise" which was a parody on Goethe's Faust.

Mrs. Natalie Snow played two numbers, "Jube" by Dett was an interesting interpretation of a Negro folk song. Her other number was "Solfeggietto" by Bach.

Mrs. Madeline Jackson read three selections by Joseph Lincoln, "Thanksgiving Dream," "November's Come" and "My New Brother." Thus, a club member's daughter and a club member gave the group enjoyment by their readings.

Mrs. Dorothy Lawry and Mrs. Litsa Vardavoulis concluded this memorable program with Schubert's "Rosamunde." The program was appreciated and enjoyed by everyone present. The members unable to be present will be sad when they learn what an excellent program was furnished by our guests.

Mrs. Bernice Havener and her committee served tea with Mrs. Dora Bird pouring.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. Minnie Rogers. Just to remind everyone, this is the Christmas donation meeting.

Colbeth-Sherman

Congregational Church the Scene Sunday Of a Very Pretty Wedding

One of the loveliest Fall weddings took place Sunday afternoon at the Congregational Church when Miss Dorothy Marston Sherman became the bride of Harold L. Colbeth, Jr., Rev. Charles R. Monteith performing the double ring ceremony.

The church was attractively decorated with California Woodwardia Ferns and Southern Smilax with pedestal vases of Fall chrysanthemums and candelabra which made a charming setting for a ceremony of simple dignity.

Incidental music preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Elva Constantine.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was strikingly beautiful in an ivory satin gown entrained with illusion net yoke. She wore a finger ring set with a cascade bouquet of Eucharis Lilies and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Russell Hewett of Topsham, was matron of honor and wore old rose satin gown with matching Juliette cap and veil and carried a colonial bouquet of pastel shades.

Mrs. Joseph Lamb, bridesmaid wore copen blue satin gown with matching Juliette cap and veil and carried a colonial bouquet of pastel shades.

Joseph W. Lamb served as best man and the ushers were Albert O. Emery, Richard A. French and Crosby L. Ludwick.

A reception followed in the vestry which was decorated with baskets of Fall flowers. The bride table had white flowers around the bride's cake with satin bows and candelabra.

well Ames, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Miss Marie Whalen caught the bridal bouquet.

The couple left by motor for a two weeks' wedding trip to Virginia. She chose for traveling a black and flamingo suit dress with black fitted coat. On their return they will be at home in Thomaston after December 15.

Mrs. Colbeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Sherman of 76 Masonic street, Rockland. She graduated from Rockland High School in 1923 and was manager of Sears Order Office for six years. She is a member of the Rockland Women's Club.

Mr. Colbeth is the son of Capt. Harold L. Colbeth, Sr., of Buzzards Bay, Mass. He graduated from Harvard College in 1938 and is employed as lighting engineer by the Central Maine Power Co. He is a member of Rockland Lodge P.A.M. Out-of-town guests were Capt. L. Colbeth, Sr., and Capt. Clarence Colbeth Sr., Buzzards Bay, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Korff and David Korff, Mineola, L. I., N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Studley, Falmouth, Mass.; Miss Verma Byrnes, Westboro, Mass.; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bonzey, Jr., Sherwood-at-Natick, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hewett, Topsham, Mass.; Mrs. Bentley Glidden, Damariscotta; Tom Lawson, Bucksport; Mr. and Mrs. W. # CAPITOL STUFF

By Governor Horace Hildreth

Augusta, Nov. 22—Many Maine families sat down to their Thanksgiving dinners with a greater feeling of thankfulness because they were able to help a number of their neighbors to have a happy Christmas this year. The final action in a chain of events which made that help possible was the approval by the Executive Council, at its last meeting of the expenditure of funds with which to provide a number of Christmas dinners.

It all came about this way: Last Fall, when our State was visited by the forest fires, many people sent in contributions for the relief of people in the towns which were destroyed wholly or partly by the fires. That money was placed in the Fire Emergency Fund, earmarked for the use intended by the donors. Enough remained this year so that these families who did not expect to be able to have the traditional Christmas dinner could be provided for. So, with the approval of the selectmen in the towns whose taxes were abated because of fire losses, every needy family will be well provided for at Christmas time with a big turkey and all the fixings.

It is all due to the generosity of Maine people and is an extra reason why we could be truly thankful in our observance of the holiday.

Apprenticeship training is taking its rightfully important place in the industrial life of our State. It makes for assurance that there will be a continuous supply of skilled workers in the future for our manufacturing and construction industries. This week the Maine State Apprenticeship Council gave me its report for the month of October, which shows that there were 28 programs registered at the beginning of the period, with one more program added in the course of the month. The total number of active registered apprentices at the end of October was 466, following the graduation of two of the trainees.

Our apprenticeship training program is growing steadily in importance and scope, which makes for an encouraging factor for our future growth.

I am glad to note that the drivers of State-owned or operated motor vehicles are setting a most worthwhile example for all drivers. The accident frequency report for the period Sept. 8 to Nov. 8 has just come to my desk. It shows that while 1103 cars and trucks were in operation, the frequency rate was down to .136 which is a record we should be proud of.

Although 37 agencies of the State government had motor vehicles in operation in the two-month period, 29 were completely accident-free and, therefore, registered an accident frequency of zero. This figure is all the more significant when you consider that some of those agencies, such as the Adjutant Gen-

A breath-taking, 200-pound cake, featuring three-dimensional scale models of the six New England state capitols and full-color scenes of the six states, was presented by A&P Food Stores to the six New England Governors and the New England Council at the recent 24th New England Conference in Boston. Admiring the cake, as Master Baker Arthur Wright takes the first slice, are left to right: Governors John O. Pastore, Rhode Island; Charles Dale, New Hampshire; James C. Shannon, Connecticut; Horace A. Hildreth, Maine; Arthur Wright, Speaker Winston Prouty, Vermont; and Robert F. Bradford, Massachusetts.

General's Department, operate many vehicles under all sorts of conditions.

If the record of State drivers could be duplicated among private citizens, we wouldn't have a street and highway safety problem. Nor would be if all drivers observed the "A-B-C" rules suggested in the monthly accident report. "Always drive defensively; be courteous on the highway; careful driving means alertness."

Maurice C. Orbeton

Death Of Former Rockland Man Who Held Many Offices

Maurice C. Orbeton, 65, died Sunday at his home in Bangor, following a long period of failing health. Mr. Orbeton, for 43 years an employee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company was district traffic chief until his retirement in May 1945. He was a past N. E. District Governor of Lions International.

Mr. Orbeton was always deeply interested in the civic life of Bangor and always worked for the various organizations whose aims were for the betterment of the community. A man of kindly disposition and fine character he had a host of friends from Richmond to Fort Kent, the territory which he covered, who will regret to learn of his death.

He was born in Providence, R. I., the son of Charles W. and Harriett (Frost) Orbeton. The family returned to Rockland and it was there in July, 1903, that Mr. Orbeton began his telephone career. In 1920 he was transferred from Boston to Bangor as district traffic chief and he remained with the Bangor district until his retirement in May 1945.

Mr. Orbeton was a member of St. Andrews Lodge, F.A.M., Mount Moriah Royal Arch chapter, and St. John's Commandery. He was also a member of the Bangor Lions Club of which he was a past president, and he was a life member of the Jasper N. Keller Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America, and was a vice president of the Bangor District of the Telephone Pioneers' Association.

He was a past president of Kappa Delta Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, and for many years maintained an active interest in scouting and was presented the Silver Beaver, an honorary award. He was also at one time a member of the Bangor Chamber of Commerce and the Tarratine Club.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Marion I. Orbeton, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Helen M. Orbeton of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Mrs. Robert Grazioplene of Indiana, Pa. two sons, Lieut. Maurice C. Orbeton, Jr., U.S.N., Charleston, S. C., and Captain Everett A. Orbeton, Medical Corps, U. S. Army, of Fort Mason, Calif.; and by a sister, Mrs. C. Earl Ludwick of Rockland. Four grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held at the residence, 140 Grant street, Bangor, this afternoon at 2 o'clock—Bangor Daily News.

EVANGELISTIC CRUSADE IS ON

Enthusiasm Runs High With Those Attending the Baptist Services

Speaking last night at the First Baptist Church on the subject, "Lessons from Overseas for the Christian Church in America," Rev. Donald Graham recounted experiences he had while serving with the Armed Forces in the Philippines and Japan. He began by stating that there were three institutions in the world which had in them divine authority and sanction: The State, the home and the church. Regarding each of these he endeavored to show the responsibility Christian people must exercise if they are to make their Christian influence count for God.

Mr. Graham pointed out that he believed in the separation of Church and State according to the best American tradition but that a Christian when he acts as a citizen must act as a Christian citizen. He said, "Japan served the glory of false gods and they drove her on relentlessly into a cruel war of aggression. America cannot hope to serve the gods of materialism, lust and atheistic intellectualism without coming to some kind of judgment from God."

Regarding the home he explained, "When God wanted to make a nation, He didn't organize a government, mark out its boundaries or even primarily send an army to vanquish another people. He simply called on father to serve Him and from the one family of Abraham, He made the great nation, Israel. Such is the importance of the home to the nation even to this present day. As the very bulwark of the nation, when the home decays the nation's years are numbered. That is one reason why we are startled and concerned about the terrific rise in the American divorce rate. It eats at the very vitals of American life."

He then told of a Harvard boy who served in his outfit overseas and came from one of these typically broken American homes. This fellow knew that to have a really sound home such as he now longed for in his own married life, he must have a Christian home. Mr. Graham added, "And he quickly saw he couldn't have a Christian home without himself being Christian, accepting Christ as his personal Saviour."

Truth and spread the truth. In the last instance he told of his outfit invading and taking from the Japs the island of Jolo in the Sulu Sea and finding there a mission church made up of first generation Christians. "Many of those Christians had suffered imprisonment and bloody beatings at the hands of the Japanese during their occupation of Jolo but through it all they maintained a true testimony for Christ. The trouble with many of us in America is that our Christian testimony has cost us too little. People frown on our faith just enough to make us act apologetically but not enough to put us to the stern test of being ready to die, if need be, for Christ. It is folly to look for persecution but we should at least look for the strength of Christian testimony that we know has been wonderfully exemplified in the lives of Christians through the ages who have had to stand hard tests for their Christian faith."

Tonight at 7:30, Mr. Graham will present the first of two musical sermons to be heard this week, this one, "The Life of Christ." With solos chosen from such oratorios as Handel's "Messiah" and sacred classics by Speaks and Scott the hour-long presentation with intermittent spoken parts unfolds the life of Christ.

The Graham Evangelistic Crusade which opened at the First Baptist Church Sunday had fine audiences at all services. At the morning service he dealt with the "Good Man Who Came to a Bad End." This man started out good but instead of listening to the will of God he listened to the will of man, and was rejected by God.

At the Men's Meeting in the afternoon, Mr. Graham spoke of some of the moral problems of army and civilian life today. He was sharp in his criticism of some of the methods used in the army for handling these moral situations. He also sought to show how God can give victory to man in all his problems.

The large audience that was present at the evening song service directed by Mr. Graham, and by his stirring rendition of his special musical numbers.

Will Lose Status

The U. S. Senate, Exclusive Men's Club, About To Be Invaded

"The 'most exclusive men's club in the world' is about to lose its all-male status," writes Beatrice M. Guddridge in November issue of Better Times, in her story, "Mrs. Smith Goes To The Senate."

"On January third," the article continues, "along with the refilled snuffboxes and polished spittoons that signal the start of a new session of the United States Senate will appear a lady Senator—first woman to be elected in her own right as a member of the Upper Chamber; second ever to sit in that august body—Senator-elect Margaret Chase Smith. Publican of Maine, 51, trim and fresh as the salt air of Maine.

No matter how Senators may feel individually regarding the advent of a woman colleague, the proper and pompous collective etiquette of the Upper Chamber, will assure her a fulsome welcome.

In fact, Mrs. Smith, strengthened by eight years in the House of Representatives, is fairly certain to find herself overwhelmed with mint-julep gallantry from her 95 Senatorial seat-mates. It's just as certain that Mrs. Smith, in her down-right Yankee way, would rather skip all that and get down to brass tacks."

Miss Guddridge's article handles understandingly facts and statistics regarding the Maine Senator-elect's career and has many interesting facts that have not previously found their way into magazine interviews regarding Mrs. Smith.

Hears an Eloquent Thanksgiving Talk By Belfast Pastor

In the absence of President Burrows, Vice President Fred Lindekin presided Friday.

The guest speaker, Rev. Frank A. Pitman of Belfast, was introduced by Rex Garrett.

Remarking that the invitation to speak before the Club came from President Burrows with the request that he talk upon Thanksgiving had been for him an hard assignment, as he was in some doubt as to the treatment of the subject, finally deciding that he would speak upon Thanksgiving as an Art.

Thanksgiving is now big business, a national celebration. It is for us to understand the art involved. Whenever a chance leads to higher development inevitably a great event occurs.

It was a great event when the fathers established Thanksgiving Day. Quoting from Herodotus, the speaker illustrated how a change in values may mean a new step up in culture. Think and thank according to philologists have the same derivative. The thinking man is generally the thankful man. The spirit of thankfulness comes from the ability to think through the benefits that life has given.

The more people involved, the harder to get them to think. The idea in our democratic scheme of education is idealism and hope, but even in this grand idea traitor officers are more on the job than ever before to enforce the laws that keep children in school until the age of 16 years.

The greater the number of the people to be reached, the harder to achieve the object. The Puritans by one Thanksgiving put more into life by their thinking on why they should be thankful. It seems to be the endeavor of New

Maine's Largest, Handsomest, Fastest Clipper

Ship Red Jacket, a full clipper, was launched at Rockland Nov. 2, 1853, the finest ship ever built in Maine. Her maiden trip, New York to Liverpool, was made in 13 days, 1 hour and 25 minutes, a record never surpassed by a sailing ship.

Englanders to make their achievements real for all people. Quoting from the history of the evolution of parliament, the speaker brought out that an unpopular duty became a privilege with a feeling of right and responsibility when right thinking became a part with government. Stalin, Hitler, Togo, any dictator would subscribe to the right of the people to live under the law. But who frames the law, is it good or bad, is it for the best interests of all of the people? The people should frame the laws. All should participate in the framing to get the most and the best out of it. A political democracy comes before an economic democracy.

The most remarkable thing about our Constitution is that in spite of all the opposing elements making up our national life it stands outside all government, all national functions, all political potentialities as a symbol of the right of the people to govern themselves.

Both the Republican and the Democratic parties should be sincere in their promises to the people and prevent the growth of wrong impressions as to their purposes. People should be helped to think through the things for which they should be thankful. We need a change in ethics to give us the joy in working. Instead of a duty it should be a right and a privilege contained in just laws.

Concluding his thoughtful and interesting address, Mr. Pitman read a selection from Hal Borland's "Thoughts on Thanksgiving Night."

Visiting Rotarians were Frank A. Pitman, Belfast, guest speaker; Harry Thompson, Boston; Melvin Dorr, Camden. The guest was former member Charles W. Sheldon, Rockland.

Mr. Rivers' Reply

Makes Dignified Answer To Bangor Man's Charges

To C. Harrison Mansfield, Bangor:

I noticed your comments on my views of Finland's political and other conditions and although I do not wish to enter in any controversial and lengthy argument to defend myself, I did want to explain a few things to you.

I did not travel in any of the other countries of Europe which you mentioned—my visit was limited to Finland and Sweden. I have reason to believe that any person who has not been in these countries personally is not really in a good position to judge on actual existing conditions.

To be sure, one can read a lot of information as to "great land reform" made by the Soviet Union in these countries, but how do we know for sure that it is so. Could it not be that the articles have been worded and then censored so that the information we get is what someone would have us believe is the true case? This could well be applied against the news and information that you have received or read regarding Finland.

You said "all the small holders in the countryside are impatient for the reform." If so, in the last July election in Finland, why did the Communists (also known as the People's Democrats) lose votes so heavily in the farming sections?

I was in Finland five and one-half months and during that time did a lot of traveling in cities and in the outlying farm districts. I had occasion to talk with hundreds of people in every walk of life over there, and the real fact was that I did not once come in contact with a person who was in favor of this type of reform that you refer to.

I also had a chance to talk with a few persons who had been in the Soviet Union for years, and one of them was in the concentration camp for five years. She was held on a charge of which she no knowledge and to this day she still does not know why she was held. Her release came about only after she signed a confession saying she was anti-Russian, although it took five years for her release to become an actuality after she signed said confession.

Finland may be a "free" country, but not in our sense of the word. Books which have been written by persons who have been in Russia as visitors and as guests of Russia's concentration camps, are banned from public sale.

You probably heard about Russia's land reform in Finland in the Porkkala incident. Russia leased for 50 years a certain amount of land lying just outside Helsinki, and it was known as "Porkkala." Finland had a railroad running through this area between Helsinki and another large city, Abo, and in order to maintain it, she had to lease the right to use said railroad from the Russians. The rent that Finland pays for the right to use said railroad is more than Russia pays Finland for the use of the entire area of land known as Porkkala! Would you have me believe that Finland would do this of her own free will?

Also about the statement that 40,000 families had to leave their homes when the Russians took over the Karilian Isthmus, and at least 90% of these people were small farmers. If the farmers were waiting for this land reform, why didn't they stay and wait for the Russians to provide for them? After the peace treaty was signed, the Finns were given the right to return to their old homes, but not a one returned!

I would like to add too, that your reference to the "rich landlords" is somewhat over-exaggerated in the

Called A Big Factor

Town Manager Form Thus Characterized—A Boost For Rockland Charter

Declaring that the Town Manager Enabling Act of 1939 is undoubtedly one of the most important single factors in the development of municipal government in Maine, Assistant Professor Lawrence L. Pelletier of Bowdoin College told the National Municipal League's conference on government that Maine now leads the Nation with 92 managers because of the ease with which a manager may be employed.

There is no occasion for smugness, however, Prof. Pelletier warned, declaring that improvements can be made both in Maine's manager charters and in the enabling act.

"Many of our charters, such as those of Auburn, Bath and Portland, badly need revision, although it should be noted that those in Rockland and Old Town compare favorably with the best in the country," he said.

"Maine will make its most impressive gains under the act," he said, "when more town manager unions are formed. At present there are only three, Merrill and Smymna, Portland and Mahardis, and Hodgeon and Linneus."

Prof. Pelletier said that it is time that towns forget their traditional jealousies and combined for managerial purposes. Only then, he told his listeners, will the full advantages and economies of the manager plan be realized. It is time that the State of Maine sought qualitative as well as quantitative leadership in the manager movement.

The conference opened a three-day session at the Stader Hotel, Dr. Orren C. Hornell, DeAlva Stanwood Alexander Professor of Government at Bowdoin, participated in a discussion on State Constitution for 1949.

Many Changes Seen

Seventeen Attorneys In Probate Practice While Henry Payson Was Register, Now Deceased

Seventeen Knox County attorneys who practiced in Probate Court during the 12 years' administration of Henry H. Payson, as register, have died since 1915. The list, as recalled by Mr. Payson, includes:

M. T. Crawford, Ruel Robinson, H. L. Withee, George H. Barrett, Frank H. Ingraham, Frank B. Miller, E. K. Gould, H. S. Littlefield, L. R. Campbell, S. Thayer Kimball, Edward C. Payson, R. I. Thompson, M. A. Johnson, Walter H. Butler, Judge Linseott, J. H. Montgomery and Ensign Otis.

Attorneys still living who participated in Probate Court proceedings while Mr. Payson was serving are:

Alan L. Bird, C. S. Roberts, E. B. MacAllister, Gilford B. Butler, Charles T. Smalley, E. W. Pike, Z. M. Dwinall and Judge P. A. Tirrell.

Other than attorneys who had quite an extensive probate business, were the late Nathaniel B. Eastman of Warren and the late Daniel H. Glidden of Vinhaven.

Loaned To Museum

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer of Rockport have loaned to the Farnsworth Art Museum rare early 19th Century Italian, French, and French portraits, a French harbor view and a portrait by Francis Coates, it was announced today.

Three of the portraits are by Charles Saint-Memin, a French artist who came to America in 1798 traveling to New York, Philadelphia and Virginia executing portraits on commission. He introduced a most interesting device, called a "physiognoscopy," with which he was able to trace profiles with mathematical accuracy.

These portraits were drawn life size on pink paper and finished in black and white chalk. With his device he took the likeness of more than 800 people before he returned to his native France in 1815. The museum is most fortunate in being able to exhibit three of these portraits.

The China, which will be exhibited shortly was made to the order of Napoleon in Italy early in the 19th Century. "Gustini" it was called and was produced by Del Vecchio The China, set off by a French portrait of a young man of the early 1800's and a marine view of the same period will make a most attractive display in the Museum's Square Gallery.

The generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Cramer in loaning their collection to the museum is very much appreciated for while the museum plans to specialize in the collecting of 19th Century American art it aims to bring before the public exhibitions covering the creative activity of this period from all parts of the world.

Visitor From Oslo

Nephew Of the eans Meets Members Og Family In Augusta

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dean were pleasantly surprised with a telegram from Mrs. Dean's nephew, Cato Carlund of Oslo, Norway, Europe. Cato was on official business in New York and was to fly to Augusta. Mrs. Dean's family of the Marriners, Brittons, Marstons, Deans and nephew Morris Perry drove there to meet him, but found the plane had been grounded in Portland, Maine.

The telegrapher at the Augusta Airport sent a message through and in two minutes a reply was received that Mr. Carlund was on his way by taxi and would arrive at the Augusta House at 9 p. m. It was a great thrill when he walked into the hotel to greet them—a nephew and cousin they had only known by correspondence.

Cato Carlund is 39 years old and has traveled all over the world, having business concerns in Norway, Sweden, France and other countries.

Mr. Carlund visited at Mrs. William Marriner's home on Broadway, where Mr. and Mrs. Dean have been visiting Mrs. Marriner for two weeks while Mr. Marriner is in Portland on business.

Mrs. Walter Britto entertained the family gathering on Sunday evening. It was a very exciting meeting for Cato is the only Norwegian relative they have seen—with the exception of his brother, Captain Carl Carlund, who visited here 10 years ago.

Mrs. Doris Dean has been in America for 54 years—having never returned to Norway. It is expected that in April of next year, her sister, Mrs. Nellie Carlund, Cato, his wife Soulvig and daughter Ina (5 years old) will fly to America to make her a visit. This sister was 10 years old when Mrs. Dean left her country.

Educating Educators

E. George Payne Of Pleasant Point Writes Notable Article

Living at Pleasant Point, Cushing, is a noted educator by the name of E. George Payne, who carries four impressive titles—Education Editor, Prentice Hall, Inc. Editor-in-Chief, Journal Educational Sociology Co-Chairman, Worcester Inst., N. Y. C., and Dean Emeritus, New York University.

"Twenty-five Years of Educating Educators" is the title of his article in the October issue of The Journal of Educational Sociology—the leading article in that publication, by the way. It is a significant and dramatic chapter in American Education.

By way of preface Dr. Payne says: "During the 50 years of my active educational experience and professional life, I have witnessed the most extensive transformation of social life in the history of civilization. This evolution has been brought about by the application of science and invention to industry, commerce, transportation and communication and by the resultant changes in the way of living.

It was during this period that earlier inventions, those of the last half of the Nineteenth Century, such as the streetcar, the railroad, the telegraph, the telephone, and the like came to fruition. Such notable inventions as the automobile, the radio, the motion picture, and a thousand others almost equally important also greatly influenced social reconstruction.

"The impact of this material and scientific advance has its inevitable influence upon culture, the social practices, and the ideals and social patterns of the age. Ways of living were revolutionized in their most fundamental aspects. There is no need to detail those changes for all the literature of the period, both popular and scientific, is replete with comment on the extent and elaboration of interdependence and the far-reaching effects of this material and social reconstruction.

The nature of our interrelatedness and interdependence, as characterized by the concept, One World, has been accepted and reasonably well understood by the ordinary citizen of the world, at least by the average citizen of our country.

"We are not, however, quite so familiar with the fact that education has undergone a somewhat similar change both in theory and practice, although this evolution has been less marked. Space does not permit me to detail those far-reaching educational changes, for we are concerned here with the development of a single institution in the last half of this 50-year period. The story of the development of this institution and its place in the total educational picture of the period cannot be told here as it is foreign to the particular purpose of this article and, for that matter, to the complete series of articles that comprise this issue.

"We hope in this article, so far as possible to define the scope, purpose, functions, and spirit of this remarkable institution that has made such a rich contribution to education. One can only understand its development in terms of its underlying philosophy and characteristic spirit.

This was stated adequately by the person who was responsible for the formulation of the philosophy of the institution, its first Dean, John W. Withers. Dean Withers came to New York University in February 1921 after a lengthy educational experience including one term as superintendent of the St. Louis public schools. He continued, first as Dean of the School of Pedagogy and later of the School of Education for 17 years, the name of the School having been changed in 1922.

"During the period of his deanship he outlined in numerous reports, speeches and publications the complete philosophy, policy, programs, and purposes of the School. It is hoped that some student or faculty member will undertake, while the two deans are still living, a complete research into the data now readily available, and provide for the educational public a complete picture of the contributions of this remarkable man to the development of education in the twentieth century, especially in the development of a School that became the largest and perhaps the most significant of its kind in the world."

Under the title: "Scope, Functions, and Purposes of the Department of the School of Education," he states his philosophy as follows: "The aim and purpose of the School of Education is to assist as far as possible in the solution of the problems of American education in two general directions; first, the extension of tested knowledge in education in all of its phases and at all levels and, secondly, the promotion of better application of tested knowledge in the improvement of educational practice.

It proposes to realize this aim chiefly through four lines of effort: (1) the professional education and training of teachers and others for the various kinds of service needed in education; (2) research and publication of results; (3) field council and advice in the way of lectures, conferences, surveys, comparative studies, committee service and so forth; and (4) promulgation of an educational philosophy in harmony with the spirit and needs of present-day life.

These problems and types of service arise out of the educational needs of a changing civilization and in connection with an imperfectly integrated system of education that has been developed to meet these needs. They are not therefore separate and independent of each other. Consequently, any institution that would be efficient in dealing with them must itself be sufficiently unified and integrated for this purpose. The kind and degree of unity required depends primarily on the character of the work to be done. This work, though essentially connected, naturally falls into several well-defined fields, each of which calls for specialized knowledge, skills, and ability, in addition to the general cultural and professional education that is considered fundamental to all of them.

Therefore in order to accomplish the task that it has undertaken, the School of Education has been organized with the definite purpose of providing expert service of a high degree of excellence in all these fields. (Concluded in next issue.)

Political Rumors

Jack Welch, Former Prison Warden May Be Payne's Secretary

The shoe is on the other foot, or at least, it may be soon. With reports that Gov.-elect Frederick G. Payne has decided to appoint John H. Welch of Bangor his executive secretary and possibly administrative assistant, informed politicians are smiling to themselves.

It seems that Welch, former State Prison warden and Aroostook County sheriff, and Harrison C. Greenleaf of Auburn, State Commissioner of Institutional Service, just don't see eye to eye. When Welch was prison warden, he was working under Greenleaf. He didn't like the way Greenleaf ran things and resigned.

Now if Welch gets named administrative assistant to Payne the going may be a little rough. Welch will have his finger in the administrative pie and will have to work closely with all department heads, including Greenleaf, whose methods of operation he didn't like before. From here, it looks as if Payne could have a little "first family" trouble on his hands before the administration is too far along.

While the word is spreading that Fish and Game Commissioner George Stobie is in poor health and may resign his post, there is nothing to indicate the same from official quarters. Stobie has nothing to say and it is felt he would stay on anyway to become eligible for a State pension in the near future. Were he to resign, he would forfeit rights to the pension.

Meanwhile, those who would like the position are battling for the inside position, hopeful Stobie will get out. The list includes Gerry Wade, Superintendent of Hatcheries for the State, Amel Kisonak of Libon Falls, former president of the Maine Fish and Game Association, Rev. MacDougall of Bingham, Earl Bradbury, deputy commissioner, Col. Lester Brown, Chief Warden for Maine, and John Jack. Although Kisonak has the backing of the Fish and Game Association, a group of more than 40 related Rod and Run Clubs throughout Maine, Gerry Wade seems to be leading the race at present. Stobie, however, says nothing—Lewiston Journal.

President Truman Got In By "Skin Of His Teeth" It Appears

(By The Associated Press)

President Truman won the election by just 35,300 votes. That's sort of a trick way of putting it, based on some "ifs" and on returns that still are unofficial and not quite complete.

On the same basis, it was by 19,043 out of a total of more than 47,000,000 votes cast Nov. 2 that Mr. Truman kept the House of Representatives from deciding who will be President the next four years.

This is the way it works out: "If" Ohio, Illinois and California had gone Republican, Thomas E. Dewey would have been the next President.

And those three States would have gone Republican "if" 3444 people in Ohio, 15,599 in Illinois and 16,257 in California—that adds up to 35,300—had voted for Dewey instead of Mr. Truman.

"If" the 3444 in Ohio and 15,599 in Illinois, a total of 19,043—had switched, the election would have been thrown into the House. Nobody would have had the necessary majority of electoral votes. But in contrast:

"If" 58,036 voters in Indiana, Michigan and New York had bailed out for the President instead of Dewey, Mr. Truman would have won by just about the same electoral vote even if he had lost Ohio, Illinois and California. He would have needed 5993 in Indiana, 24,696 in Michigan and 27,647 in New York.

In fact, "if" he had picked up just those 27,647 votes in New York he could have lost the other five States and still squeaked by. And "if" Mr. Truman had received the votes that went to Progressive Canton, Idaho, Henry A. Wallace in Indiana, Michigan and New York, he would have needed to convert only 9643 of Dewey's supporters to have captured all three States.

He could have done the trick with 4733 Dewey votes in Michigan and 4010 in Indiana—none at all in New York.

Wallace's vote in New York was 508,542, and Dewey carried the State by just 55,293.

There was a similar result in Maryland. Dewey's margin over Mr. Truman was 8197 in a State that gave 9939 votes to Wallace.

The politicians figure that most of the Wallace ballots would have been in the bag for the Democrats, "if" Wallace hadn't been in the Presidential race.

Here's the way it sizes up in electoral votes: Mr. Truman needed 266 electoral ballots to win the election. He got 304 to 189, for Dewey and 38 for the States' Rights candidate, J. Strom Thurmond.

Illinois has 23 electoral votes, Ohio and California 25 each. That's 78 for all three. If they had gone to Dewey, the New York governor would have collected 267—one more than the required number. Mr. Truman would have had 226 and Thurmond his 38.

If Dewey had won any two of the three States, neither he nor Mr. Truman would have had the needed 266. So the House would have picked the new President under a constitutional procedure that gives one vote to each State.

Suppose Dewey had won Ohio and Illinois. He would have had 242 electoral votes, the President 251 and Thurmond the same 38.

Now take another look at Indiana.

Mank, 75, were found dead in their Union homes.

Mrs. Ruth Coose of Camden fell and broke one of her ribs.

Mrs. Ivory Littlefield died in Vinalhaven, aged 75.

Mrs. Joseph Bryant died in Union, aged 75.

Edgar Montgomery, 68, died suddenly in Warren.

Michigan and New York, which Mr. Truman came close to winning.

They have 79 electoral votes—13 for Indiana, 19 for Michigan and a big 47 for New York.

If the President had taken those three States and lost Ohio, Illinois and California, instead of the other way around, there would have been just one electoral vote difference in the way the election came out. It would have been 306 for Truman, 188 for Dewey, 38 for Thurmond.

If he had won only New York of that group, the electoral count would have been Truman 273, Dewey 220 and Thurmond 38.

Then you can figure things this way: The latest unofficial count in Ohio gives Mr. Truman 1,460,229 votes to 1,442,925 for Dewey. But a big error in the tally in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland)—not yet figured in the unofficial count announced by the Ohio secretary of State—cuts the Truman edge from 17,404 to a close 6886. So a shift of 3000 votes would have put the State in the GOP column.

In Illinois, a revision in Cook County (Chicago) has whittled the Truman margin from 37,920 to 31,196 votes. A shift of 15,599 would have meant a Republican victory. The present totals for the State are 1,990,635 for Truman, 1,959,439 for Dewey.

The latest California tabulation is Truman 1,876,934, Dewey, 1,844,422. The difference is 32,512 and a change of 16,257 would have swung the State to the GOP.

Indiana went for Dewey 817,385 to 806,001, by a margin of 11,384. A 5993-vote shift would have turned the State to Mr. Truman.

Dewey's edge in Michigan was 49,391. He got 1,022,007 votes to 972,616 for the President. A 24,696-vote switch would have spelled victory for the Democrat.

New York gave its governor 2,837,849 votes to 2,782,555 for Mr. Truman, a difference of 55,293. And a change of 27,647 ballots there would have handed the State to the Chief Executive.

While the election was decided by only 35,300 votes, Mr. Truman's actual margin of victory was over 2,100,000.

Buying your next new car "For keeps"? Here's a durability story you shouldn't miss!

If you're a value-minded, long-range buyer—here are some quick facts you'll want to keep in mind . . .

1. Of all the Packards built—since 1899—over 50% are still in service.
2. It's commonplace for Packards (many of them in tough, round-the-clock commercial service) to roll up more than 400,000 miles apiece before being retired.
3. Today's new Packards are more durable than ever. Proof: Periodic service records, submitted by all Packard dealers, show that service needs of the new Packard Eights are the lowest in Packard's 49 years of precision manufacturing!

That's just part of the value story behind this sleek new Packard.

So if you're buying your next new car "for keeps", you'll want to hear this Packard story in every exciting detail. Come in!

SPOTLIGHT ON THE GRADES

McLain School

The present enrollment is 383, larger than in any previous year's record.

The peak of the measles epidemic seems to have been reached. The lower grades had at times less than half the membership attending school.

Fire Prevention Week was as usual observed with fire drills, after weekly drills in September. A new fire signal has been recently installed to replace the old one which was entirely inadequate.

Education Week resulted in 119 visits by parents and friends of the school. Since the beginning of the school year there have been 147 visits made. All parents are cordially invited to call at any time to see the actual classroom procedure in their child's room.

Pre-Primary, Mrs. Leach

The children have been very much pleased with their new easels and painting in preparation for painting Christmas scenes.

Their first Reading-Readiness work books are nearly completed. During the past two weeks, the classes have made paper Thanksgiving baskets and fruits for them.

Grade 1, Mrs. Rhodes

The picture on the easel this week is the handwork of Joan Sewall. It is a Thanksgiving scene. Book Week was observed by discussing the best care of books. Stephen Smith brought a century old book for the group to see.

Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Witham, Mrs. DeShon, and Miss Rolfe were recent visitors.

A "Plymouth Rock" scene is in the process of construction at the present time.

Grade 1, Mrs. Gifford

Thanksgiving murals on display this week were made by Linda Mountfort, Corinne Simmons, and Harriet Sleeper. The Thanksgiving tableau was brought in by David and Donald Gregory.

Mrs. Whitney, Miss Winslow, and Mrs. Littlefield were recent visitors.

David Harden, Arthur Stilphen, Donald Hooper, Robert Lavie, and Thomas Littlefield are working on a Pilgrim set.

Special activity for Book Week was making work books.

Ruth Ann Jackson brought in a dollhouse, for which the first grade girls are making furnishings.

Grade 2, Mrs. Lowe

The class is sorry to lose Cecil Wood who has moved to Belfast, and Robert Lunt who has moved to Portland.

During Book Week book reports were given by Carolyn Bird, Billy Emery, David Hamalainen, Fred Bickel Stoddard, Lynda Goodnow and Wendall Wass.

Anna Coughlin has drawn an interesting November scene on the big easel.

Nancy O'Brien entertained the class recently with piano selections, "Little Spring Song" and "The Tiresome Woodpecker." Nancy played these numbers at a recent Rubinstein Club program.

Grade 4, Mrs. Paulitz

During the study of "Writing Letters to Friends," letters have been sent to and received from Harriet Lunt, who was a member of this class.

The pupils have made and decorated folders, to hold the year's art work.

The posters made for Book Week are interesting. Many of them show the book chosen to be read by that pupil.

Ercell Sawyer brought a book about cotton, for her reading group. Experiments to prove that air really is something, have been done in the Science class; and extended in home practice.

Grade 5, Mrs. Hall

At present the class is working on a mural of Pilgrim scenes. Some of the figures are very good, especially the "First Pilgrim Village" by Ralph Hooper.

On exhibition are a chain made of goat's milk, a hatpin from Yellowstone Park made of hardened sediment with a tiny sprig of moss inside, a meteorite which fell on Limerock street, pieces of tile from the Alhambra in Spain, brought by Barbara Marsh, and a "Spirit of 1776" clock, on the face of which is a little drummer boy beating out the seconds on a tiny drum.

The large figures holding the clock are Washington, Roosevelt and Lincoln. This clock is the property of Mary Grispi.

Jean Perry, Phillip Willey, Donna Sylvester, Robert Benner, Carolyn Duncan, Eloise Law, brought plants for the plant shelf. David Allyn gave a Halloween witch. Rosalie Halligan and Leroy Morey decorated the windows.

Henry Marsh sent to the class some crispy white paper. Thanks, a good use is being made of it.

Phillip Willey made a very realistic kettle for the Thanksgiving play.

Eighteen visitors came Education week to visit.

Grades 5 and 6, Mrs. Parr

The members of the Arts and Crafts Club exhibited their soap-carvings in the hall Friday afternoon and Monday morning. Judges from Mrs. DeLait's room chose the prize-winning pieces. First prize was awarded to Lloyd Richards for the carving of a turtle.

Second prize went to John Kirk for the carving of a hen, and third prize to Gary Witham for a carving of a bear.

The class enjoys looking at an original set of book-week posters done under the supervision of Mrs. Podkova. One class member, even though she was taken with the measles before finishing it, sent her work back all finished last Friday.

In this poster there is a good-sized worm eating at some shelves of books. The caption said, "Are you a bookworm?" The class thinks Celia Crie did a fine job on this.

Grade 6, Mr. Dow

Peter Armata has done a large November calendar in colored chalk on the front board.

This week Raymond Kirk and Dennis Curry served as judges for the soap carvings which were made by Mrs. Parr's Arts and Crafts Club.

Reading tests are being given this week. This is the mid-term opportunity for boys and girls to be advanced to a higher reading group if they are showing an appropriate gain in reading skills.

Grade 6, Mrs. DeLait

In observance of American Book Week, each pupil in the room made a poster or did a dramatization. Each child decided which he preferred. This has resulted in many fine posters based on books which the individual pupils have read.

Fishery Depletion

Has Become So Serious An International Conference Is To Be Held

Serious and continuing depletion of several commercially-important species of fish in New England waters today prompted the government to call an international fisheries conference in Washington Jan. 26.

The State Department announced that 10 other nations have been invited to join in the discussions which will attempt to develop means for formal international co-operation to conserve the valuable fishery resources of the Northwest Atlantic.

In stressing the urgency of the international conference, the department asserted:

"Should a more bountiful supply of meat cause the price of fish to drop, the value of the United States groundfish landings, if they remain at the present low level, may be so small as to have a serious financial effect upon the industry."

Nations invited to send representatives are Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Newfoundland, Norway, Portugal, Spain and the United Kingdom.

The department indicated it is particularly concerned about dwindling supplies of haddock, rockfish, halibut and cod.

"In its consideration of the need for international co-operative action, this government, has, of course, been particularly interested in the condition of those species in the Northwest Atlantic area fished by U. S. Nationals," a department announcement said.

Any regulations which might grow out of scientific study following an international fisheries agreement would be designed to increase the sustained production of these fisheries, it was stated. The department emphasized it does not contemplate recommending any regulation without adequate scientific evidence proving that the proposed measure will actually serve that purpose.

Here is why the government has acted, the department said:

1. Haddock—The abundance of marketable-sized haddock is at an all time low. The industry has been forced to resort to fishing for immature and baby fish, a factor which is seriously depleting the potential production of the fishery.

2. Rockfish—Abundance of this fish has been reduced to the point where U. S. vessels must stem much further from port to find commercial quantities. Until recent years, bulk of this catch was taken within 150 miles of Gloucester and Boston, in the Gulf of Maine and South Channel. Now many vessels must travel to Sable Island and Banquero Bank—500-600 miles from port.

3. Halibut—The catch has dwindled through the years until today it constitutes an insignificant quantity.

4. Cod—Catches from New England banks likewise reduced, necessitating lengthy and expensive trips to Nova Scotia banks.

General scarcity of groundfish on the New England banks has not been disastrous to the industry only because of the very high prices being paid for fish since war's end.

The department said it anticipates expansion of other trawl fleets in this country and abroad and warns that depletion of European banks may result in a shift in the operations of many European vessels to the Northwest Atlantic.

"With the expected heavy exploitation of the fisheries of the Northwest Atlantic, the question of maintaining the highest possible level of productivity becomes increasingly important and urgent," it was stated.

The United States wants to determine if the decline of the fisheries can be stopped and if production can, in some way, be increased. Biologists, for example, are certain that protection of small haddock would substantially increase the future landings.

Considerable research is expected to be necessary. Based on this research, the department said, some sort of regulation would be necessary "inasmuch as voluntary changes have little chance of success."

The department pointed out that the off-shore banks of the Northwest Atlantic are fished by nationals of many countries. So, it said, if the various New England States or the federal government regulated the fishing methods to be used by U. S. fishermen while other countries are free to use whatever methods they wish, little help would be afforded the fisheries.

"Regulations must be put into effect by agreement of the various countries who, at present, and in the future, fish the banks of the Northwest Atlantic," the statement said.

It is also felt that scientific study of these fisheries could best be undertaken on an international scale, with a pooling of facilities and the knowledge of fishery experts of all interested countries.

To the Honorable Justice of the Superior Court:

Respectfully represents Charles P. Clancy of Rockland in the County of Knox and State of Maine, that your petitioner is the owner of certain real estate situated in Appleton in said County of Knox.

Bounded on the southwest and northwest by land of Frank Barker, bounded on the northwest by land of Albert Fuller, and bounded on the southeast by the road leading from B. A. Chapin to Frank Barker. Containing about forty acres, more or less, together with buildings thereon standing.

That your petitioner's title to this property is derived through several conveyances originating with deed of Mahala Chapman to Fred E. Grant.

That at the time the said Mahala Chapman deeded the aforesaid property to the said Fred E. Grant she took in return therefor a mortgage to fulfill the conditions of a certain bond given on the same date by the said Fred E. Grant to well and sufficiently support and maintain Mahala Chapman and William Chapman in the house of Fred E. Grant where the said Mahala Chapman and her husband, William Chapman, then lived, and then provide with meat, drink, clothes, nursing, medicine and other things necessary for their comfortable support.

That the said Mahala Chapman and William Chapman are now deceased. That said mortgage remains undischarged on the records;

That the said Fred E. Grant and his heirs and assigns have been in uninterrupted possession of said real estate for more than twenty years.

That the heirs of said Mahala Chapman and William Chapman are unknown and their names are not known.

WHEREFORE your petitioner prays that after such notice as the Court may order, this Honorable Court may decree that the liability for which said mortgage was given has ceased to exist, and that said mortgage may be discharged in accordance with Chapter 163, Sections 27 and 38 of the Revised Statutes of 1944, as in such cases made and provided.

Dated this thirtieth day of October, 1948.

JEROME C. BURROWS

CHARLES P. CLANCY

Notary Public.

Upon the foregoing the Court orders, that the plaintiff cause the heirs of Mahala Chapman to be notified of the pendency of this petition by publishing three weeks successively in The Courier-Gazette, a newspaper printed in Rockland in the County of Knox, a copy of the petition with this order of Court thereon, the last publication to be thirty days, at least before the term of said Court to be held at Rockland aforesaid, on the second Tuesday of February, 1949, that they may then and there in said Court appear and show cause, if any they have, why judgment should not be rendered against them.
